SUMMER 2020
Computer Science
Extended Campus / Distance Education

CS 200B-950

Online Course
Instructor – John Woods

Introduction to Computer Science

The course is designed to provide participants with a broad overview of computer concepts including key terminology and components of computer hardware, software, and operating systems. Topics will include, but are not limited to computer architecture, peripheral devices, networking components, system software, information system analysis, application software including word processing, database management, spreadsheet, and presentation software. Discussion will also include the Internet and Web page development.

Prerequisites: No prerequisite

Textbook: Go! with Microsoft Office 2013, Pearson. ISBN: 10:1323084827 or Package for SIU-Carbondale, ISBN: 13:9781323084823.